RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Independent Research Project, Lumiere Education July 2025 – November 2025
Title: [Economic Hardship, Political Dissatisfaction, and the Limited Electoral Impact of the 2014 Floods in Croatia]
The paper examines whether flood exposure, economic hardship, or political dissatisfaction best explains the decline in President Ivo Josipović's municipal-level vote share between the 2009 and 2014/2015 elections. It uses municipality-level Difference-in-Differences regression analysis with fixed effects, combining electoral, flood, unemployment, and political dissatisfaction data. The findings show that economic hardship and political dissatisfaction were stronger predictors of electoral decline than flood exposure, which had only limited and localized effects.
